Project Description

Project Description*

Description of Project

Big Ivy Community Club partners with Buncombe County Health and Human Services, providing rural communities with informational materials and logistics for assistance provided by the County. The Center is located in the rural community of Barnardsville NC, at 540 Dillingham Road. The center is located in Barnardsville, an unincorporated community in the heart of the Blue Ridge Mountains. The Barnardsville Resource Center is primarily rural and geographically isolated from receiving services that residents need.

The nearest services for youth and families are more than 15 miles away in the Town of Weaverville or more than 25 miles to Asheville. The center is a vital one-stop-shop for community members to access health education, medical screenings, youth and senior programs, commodities, medical facilities, and have a safe place to participate in recreational /Social activities and special events. The Big Ivy Community Center is the only local source of medical and social assistance for Barnardsville youth and families. The Resource Center proposes to use funding to assist the community club with its entire program including the promotion and awareness of the array of services provided by Health & Human Services to help our Community's wellness.

How many people will this project serve?*

State the number of individuals or households in Buncombe County that will be served by this project. Also state the number of people that will experience the desired result. For example, if dropout prevention services are being delivered to 100 students, how many will successfully graduate from high school?

The Big Ivy Community Center presently serves approximately 2600 people annually with human services components including a weekly food pantry, thrift store, and informational handouts and programs.

We are proposing to increase awareness of County provided services in the areas of economics, social work, and public health. The Resource Center provides materials and information detailing the food stamp, Work first, and Medicaid programs. Children and adult protective services, and veteran services. The public health assistance promotion will be coordinated with the local Big Ivy Health and Wellness Center Board. This includes coordinating booths for providing informational materials to the community during special events such as the July 4th celebrations, providing informational materials and coordinating programs with the BICC to talk about all of the services provided by the Health and Human Services.

Describe the people this project will serve.*

Characterize the demographics of the project's target population in terms such as age, gender, income, race, ethnicity, geographic area, etc. Include information about method of referral/recruitment of the target population.

We serve primarily long time Appalachian, multi-generational families but our doors are open to anyone. The average income of our population base is predominantly low to middle income and generally lower than the average for Buncombe County. Our methods of information dissemination includes; our web site, our email distribution list, our mass mail outs, community bulletin boards, word of mouth, and social media. The Big Ivy community has long been identified as an underserved area that is geographically isolated from many services and amenities that many citizens take for granted. The Big Ivy Community Center serves as a “one stop shop” of affordable, accessible, vital health and human service programs conveniently located in the community where they live.

What key steps will you take to achieve the results of this project?*

Describe the core elements of your implementation plan, including milestones that will take place within the funding timeframe.

BICC plans on continuing mailing of our newsletter every six weeks. This highlights upcoming events, a calendar and past activities. This newsletter is mailed to local residents, local businesses and local schools. In addition, flyers and posters advertising specific activities are prominently displayed at the center. The center is also planning training of a social media contact that will assist in maintaining the center social media sites.

Describe the evidence of success that backs this project's approach.*

What evidence of success (i.e. evidence-based research, practice model, accreditation, industry standards, and/or other framework) are you using as a basis for your project design?

The evidence of success lies with our overwhelming support from the community so far since starting to promote and assist with county offered services. The framework is in place to spring board this community navigator program into a success.

Describe your data collection, tracking, and reporting procedures.*

Explain your methods for documenting project, service and client information. Include a description of any software or other tools utilized.

The data collection process has changed at the center. The board has assigned project leaders to each asset for management and recordkeeping of each asset. The goal is to have each asset track individually for ease of identification of needs. The tracking system will assist in reporting, and projecting needs into the future. The center has and uses all of the standard software for operations of this sort including Microsoft word, excel, Adobe Reader etc. The community center maintains a data base of the number and demographics of the people we serve.

Explain your technological resources and capacity.*

Explain your current technological strengths and barriers and how this impacts your ability to track data and report outcomes. Who is responsible for adaptation and use of technology within your organization?

The board has identified that with the use of project management and oversight of assets will assist in growth. The ability to track and maintain project records is a high priority that has been a barrier in the past.

The board has provided the community with a new approach to management with great feedback from the visitors. We have several qualified personnel on staff that is familiar in contract work and project management that will be a great asset to the community.

Organizational Profile

How does the proposed project support your mission and strategic plan?*

State your mission and the date of your most recent strategic plan, and explain how the proposed project helps advance your organizational goals.

The center board has set goals for our strategic plan. The proposed project includes the boards review and revision of the strategic plan. The general mission of our organization is to provide community engaging activities and services to improve the quality of life for residents of our community. The health and wellness of the community is a high priority of the center. With the proposed project funding the board intends to create a databank of project feasibility and progress. Data collection and review for sustainable goal setting is the board's goal.

What expertise/accomplishments do you have that are relevant to the proposed project?*

List your organization's strengths as well as accomplishments from the past 3 years that position the organization to be successful with the proposed project.

The board has access to a contracting specialist. This will help with the organizations data collection and project management. In the past year the center has made great strides with capital improvements that have increased revenue. The center has received feedback from community members and has gained support of local churches and partners. The management strategy of the board is to decrease the amount deferred maintenance and grow the center to be as sustainable as possible moving into the future.

Describe partners that are critical to the success of your organization.*

List any external partners, intermediaries or advisors important to your success, and describe their role and evidence of their commitment. Describe successful collaborations with these people or groups.

The center has partnered with the United Way, Buncombe County, Manna Food bank, Boy Scouts of America, local church's, residents, and other nonprofits. The community center is listed as a gateway community to the Blue Ridge Parkway National Park, Lowes, Home Depot. The community centers goals for this project are to grow our network of partners to assist in diversifying our opportunities.
