Project Description

Project Description*

Description of Project

Just Economics is an Asheville based nonprofit whose mission is to educate, advocate, and organize for a just and sustainable local economy that works for all in Western North Carolina. Our primary focuses have been: Sustainable local economy initiatives including the largest Living Wage Certification program in the country; Poverty remediation by helping to remove systematic barriers to economic mobility; and Public participation in community decisions by marginalized populations. Just Economics is requesting continued funding from Buncombe County to maintain this work in line with the County's focus on poverty remediation and the Buncombe County Sustainability Plan.

Funding will support Just Economics' staff positions for 2 related programs that coincide to reduce poverty in Buncombe County.

The first program is our voluntary Living Wage Employer Certification Program. This program focuses on working with businesses to voluntarily raise the wage floor and increase economic mobility for low wage workers in Buncombe County.

The second project is our Voices for Economic Justice program, a leadership training for low-wage workers and low-income people to involve them in public decisions that affect their lives.

Low-income leaders that emerge from the Voices for Economic Justice program are involved in community efforts that identify and reduce the barriers to employment. Low-income leaders from this program are currently working with staff and committees from the City of Asheville to improve the bus system, as lack of reliable transportation is a major barrier to employment.

We believe the best community change comes about when the people most impacted by the problems are involved in creating the solutions. Low income people are involved in and leading many of our effort. Together we are strategizing effective and meaningful solutions to work toward living wages, affordable housing, and efficient transit in Buncombe County.

How many people will this project serve?*

State the number of individuals or households in Buncombe County that will be served by this project. Also state the number of people that will experience the desired result. For example, if dropout prevention services are being delivered to 100 students, how many will successfully graduate from high school?

In the 2017 fiscal year, Just Economics will serve:

-6000 Buncombe County workers covered under our program. These individuals will be working for Living Wage Certified Employers. Of those 6,000 workers, 400 will be added to our program during the grant cycle and at least 100 will have received a wage increase as a result of our program because their employer raised wages to meet our standards. 5,600 workers will remain covered under our program and their employers will continue to voluntarily pay at least a living wage.

-30 low-income residents graduating from our leadership development program focused on community engagement. 5 leaders from our Voices for Economic Justice program will participate with community stakeholders in community issues. The results of this participation will impact thousands of low-income residents. For example, an estimated 5,000 transit dependent local residents are impacted by the work of these low-income leaders on transportation issues.

Describe the people this project will serve.*

Characterize the demographics of the project's target population in terms such as age, gender, income, race, ethnicity, geographic area, etc. Include information about method of referral/recruitment of the target population.

The work of Just Economics takes a three prong approach to poverty remediation by working with employers to create more sustainable employment opportunities for employees; working with system changes that remove barriers to economic mobility; and working with low-income individuals to build leadership from marginalized communities resulting in public participation from these communities.

In our work with businesses, we focus our attention on business owners in target industries and geographic locations. Our goal is to impact low wage workers. In 2016 our strategic focus includes businesses in Buncombe County located outside the City of Asheville, businesses with more than 30 employees and businesses in the service, retail, medical, and hospitality industries.

Our community engagement work and systems change work focuses on the impacts to low-income people in Buncombe County. Women, children, and people of color are disproportionately represented in this population.

What key steps will you take to achieve the results of this project?*

Describe the core elements of your implementation plan, including milestones that will take place within the funding timeframe.

During the 2017 fiscal year Just Economics will:

*Work with 450 businesses to increase or maintain wages to at least a living wage standard, and create more sustainable business environments reducing turnover and increasing productivity.

-JE will certify 25 new Living Wage businesses with an estimated 10 businesses to increase wages.

-JE will work within our established network of Living Wage Certified employers to create mutual aid for business leaders in creating more sustainable business practices. We will accomplish this goal by providing 4 business support events and at least 2 sustainability workshops for business leaders.

*Just Economics will host 2 sessions of our leadership development program for low-income people with a target of 15 graduating participants in each class.

Follow up with graduating participants, as well as on-going follow up with previous leaders will include connecting low-income people to opportunities to participate with Buncombe County stakeholders.

Describe the evidence of success that backs this project's approach.*

What evidence of success (i.e. evidence-based research, practice model, accreditation, industry standards, and/or other framework) are you using as a basis for your project design?

-Our Living Wage Certification program is the largest in the country and the leading example for the nation. Certification programs (like certified organic) create marketing strategies that target conscious consumers and result in increased market shares for certified businesses. Fair Trade Certification and Certified B Corps are examples of certification successful programs focusing on working conditions and wages.

In our Voices for Economic Justice program, Just Economics chooses to use Popular Education methodology in the program design because of its relevance to our work and constituency. Organizations like United for a Fair Economy use this model and have shared their successes working with people from low-wealth communities. Another reason our program has proven successful is because we remove barriers to participation by providing food, transportation, and childcare to our program workshops and follow up meetings.

Describe your data collection, tracking, and reporting procedures.*

Explain your methods for documenting project, service and client information. Include a description of any software or other tools utilized.

The Just Economics' tracks data and keeps records of our employers involved in our certification program in our database. The information is collected through an on-line application and a follow up interview. Employers are required to recertify every two years and the same on-line application and follow up interview is used in the recertification process. We create reports from our database and spreadsheets.

Just Economics collects data for our Voices for Economic Justice participants through participant evaluations and interviews. We use our database to track client participation in follow up activities. The database that we use is Salesforce Nonprofit Version

Explain your technological resources and capacity.*

Explain your current technological strengths and barriers and how this impacts your ability to track data and report outcomes. Who is responsible for adaptation and use of technology within your organization?

Just Economics greatest strength in regards to technology is our Salesforce database from which we can track data and create reports.

Our greatest challenge is our human resources available for data entry and report creation, as well as training for staff to optimize the use of Salesforce. We know that with additional training and funding for staff time, that we could be using Salesforce more effectively.

In the 2015 calendar year, we went through a staff transition with our Living Wage Program Coordinator and our new staff person has technological skills that add a great deal of value and increases our capacity to better manage our technology. While our new hire is still in the process of becoming familiar with our technology, he is working with our technology consultants to help our entire staff adapt to changes and improvements in our technology use.

Organizational Profile

How does the proposed project support your mission and strategic plan?*

State your mission and the date of your most recent strategic plan, and explain how the proposed project helps advance your organizational goals.

The mission of Just Economics is to educate, advocate, and organize for a just and sustainable local economy that works for all in Western North Carolina.

The four major goals identified in our strategic plan include:

- 1) People have access to living wage jobs
- 2) Policies promote overall good quality of life for workers and their families.
- 3) Workplaces have fair and just practices and employers and employees are organized in relationships based on their mutual, interdependent interests.
- 4) Low wage earners are able to use their voice and are organized with allies from all socioeconomic groups on behalf of a just economy.

Our certification program work relates directly to goals 1 and 3, and our Voices for Economic Justice program relates directly to goals 2 and 4. We take a positive approach to building community and strengthening our local economy that has prove successful in advancing our organizational goals.

What expertise/accomplishments do you have that are relevant to the proposed project?*

List your organization's strengths as well as accomplishments from the past 3 years that position the organization to be successful with the proposed project.

Some of the strengths of Just Economics include serving as a model for cutting edge programs, authentically engaging low-income people in public decision, and working with stakeholders to create systematic improvements. Some of our accomplishments include:

-Launched the largest Living Wage Employer Certification Program in the country. 400+ employers have been Living Wage Certified, and we have an estimated annual impact on our local economy of over $1 million in the form of wage raises to low-wage workers. With 2 national partners we developed a toolkit for this program now being used across the country.

-Created Voices for Economic Justice, our leadership development program for low-wage workers. We have trained over 175 low-wage worker leaders. Leaders from this program now serve on our board and participate on other boards and committees in the community.

-Worked with Asheville, Weaverville, Montreat, and Buncombe County to adopt Living Wage policies for their employees.

Describe partners that are critical to the success of your organization.*

List any external partners, intermediaries or advisors important to your success, and describe their role and evidence of their commitment. Describe successful collaborations with these people or groups.

In regards to our Living Wage Certification program, we partner with local businesses. We also work and partner directly with the Asheville Grown Business Alliance and the Mountain Xpress through the Go Local Directory and the Get It Guide. We also partner with organizations like Mountain Bizworks to provide business support.

In regards to our public engagement work through the Voices for Economic Justice program, we partner with several organization. In FY2017 we will be partnering with Green Opportunities and integrating our training programs. We also continue to partner with organizations that we have worked with over the years whose partnership is demonstrated by their continued involvement . Some organizations we partner directly with include: the Asheville Buncombe Community Relations Council, BeLoved House, Bountiful Cities, Children First/CIS of Buncombe County, Women's Wellbeing and Development Foundation, Youth Empowered Solutions, and the YWCA.

Financial Information

Nonprofit financial assurance requirements:

Budget Narrative*

Describe all differences between current year and proposed year. List all pending funding sources with expected date of notification. Please detail any other information that may help clarify the budget.

Revenue:

-Increase in funding from Buncombe County because our fiscal year is a calendar year and we are a newly funded group.

-Decrease in grant funding as one larger grant we had in 2015 requires us to wait a year before reapplying

-Increase in Program Service Fees because we implemented an application fee for our certification and recertification and we have a lot of businesses due for recertification in 2016

Expenses:

-Decrease in Salaries because we had to reduce staff hours over the last 2 years due to a loss of grant funding we were timed out of and ineligible to reapply

-Increase in contract fees to help us maintain the same level of service with reduced staff time

-Increase in reserve fund because of an unexpected loss of grant funding in 2013-14, we used all of our reserve and needed to rebuild it so as to maintain financial stability

2016-$56250 Committed

$22,750 Pending ($7750 from Buncombe County)

$5000 from CCHD notification expected May 2016

$10,000 from Parsec Prize

What (if any) portion of requested funds will be used to support capital expenses?*

Capital projects are defined as those used to acquire or upgrade physical assets such as property, buildings, or equipment. Please detail.

None
