ADVISORY

Reporting Scams and Price Gouging

In the wake of disasters, it's common to see people or companies try to take advantage of survivors by impersonating official organizations, aid workers, or relatives or by raising prices of a service or product to an unreasonable level. If you believe you have experienced or witness a scam or price gouging, here's how to report it.

Resources for Reporting

North Carolina Consumer Protection Agency and North Carolina Attorney General's Office lines are open to report price gouging and other Helene-related concerns. You can also contact the Attorney General's Office for help with a complaint about disaster repair or a contractor.

Victims of scams, wage theft, etc., should report online at www.ncdoj.gov or by calling 1-877-5-NO-SCAM (1-877-566-7226).

NEXT STEPS FOR

FEMA Individual Assistance

APPLICATIONS CLOSE ON SATURDAY, MARCH 8.

What could be covered by IA

IA is an overarching program that covers a large number of disaster-related needs. The assistance falls under two categories: housing and other needs.

Assistance can include:

- Rental assistance, which is money you can use to rent housing if you are displaced from your home because of the disaster. For more information on rental assistance programs, go to Page 17.
- Home repair or replacement, which is money to help you repair or replace your disaster-damaged home.
- Accessibility needs, which is money to help survivors with a disability address specific repairs to ensure their home is accessible.
- Privately owned roads, bridges, and docks, which is money for survivors whose only access to their home has been damaged by the disaster. For more information, go to Page 31.
- Temporary housing unit, which might be provided if you are not able to use rental assistance due to a lack of available housing resources.
- Displacement, which is money to help with housing needs if you cannot return to your home because of the disaster.
- Funeral expenses, which is money to help you pay for funeral or reburial expenses caused by the disaster.
- Transportation, which is money to help you repair or replace a vehicle damaged by the disaster when you don't have another vehicle you can use.

If you aren't sure what FEMA IA might be able to help with, ask yourself what you had to do as a result of the storm. Did you have to repair your vehicle? Did you have to buy a chainsaw or a generator? Then share your story with FEMA.

NEXT STEPS FOR

FEMA Individual Assistance

Differences Between Individual and Public Assistance

FEMA offers both Individual Assistance and Public Assistance (PA). Generally speaking, IA is given to residents and households, while PA is provided to local, state, and tribal governments and some private nonprofits.

Individual Assistance

IA gives direct and financial assistance to those who are either uninsured or underinsured. It is meant to provide basic needs and supplement recovery efforts.

Under IA, you'll find services like:

- Temporary housing
- Home repair
- Replacement of personal property or vehicles
- Funds for moving or storage
- Funds for medical, dental, childcare, or funeral expenses

IA could also includes programs like legal services, counseling, and Disaster Unemployment Assistance (for more on DUA, go to Page 49).

Public Assistance

PA offers supplemental grants to governments and some nonprofits to help with recovery and rebuilding of communities.

Under PA, costs are covered for services and programs like:

- Removing debris
- Restoring damaged roads and bridges
- Repairing public utilities and water systems

Some programs could fall under either IA or PA. For example, private road or bridge repair could be covered by either, depending on the project. For more information, go to Page 31.

TSA Eligibility

Eligibility for the Transitional Sheltering Assistance (TSA) Program for Buncombe County residents is being reviewed on an individual basis. If you are eligible for TSA, visit www.femaemergencyhotels.com to find available accommodations.

Once your individual deadline is reached and you have been deemed ineligible for continued assistance, you will be removed from the program and costs will no longer be covered by FEMA.

You're ineligible if...

- You have not verified your identity, citizenship, or proof of residency.
- You are not a resident of Buncombe County or another disaster-declared county.
- You have insurance or other disaster assistance that is able to meet your needs.
- Your storm-damaged home was not your primary residence.
- Your expenses and needs were not caused by Tropical Storm Helene.
- FEMA inspectors determined that your home is habitable.

If you do not agree that your home is habitable, you can appeal FEMA's decision online at www.disasterassistance.gov, by calling the helpline at (800) 621-3362, or by visiting the Disaster Recovery Centers at Fairview Public Library and Weaverville Town Hall.

Options for Continued FEMA Housing Assistance

FEMA is contacting TSA participants via phone and email, but if you have not heard directly, make sure to check your online account at www.disasterassistance.gov and speak with your hotel's front desk to see if you're eligible for continued FEMA housing assistance.

Continued housing assistance could include:

- Rental assistance, which allows you to rent alternative housing accommodations while you're displaced.
- Transportable Temporary Housing Units, like an RV or manufactured housing, that is purchased or leased by FEMA.
- Direct lease assistance, which leases residential property in or near the disaster area for use as temporary housing.

NEXT STEPS FOR

Hazard Mitigation Grant Program

The Hazard Mitigation Grant Program (HMGP) is a FEMA-funded initiative aimed at reducing or eliminating future damages and losses following a disaster. While federally funded, the program is managed in North Carolina by the Department of Public Safety's Division of Emergency Management.

Mitigation Strategies

- The elevation project raises the home as is, demolishes the old foundation, and builds a new foundation that raises the first floor approximately 2 feet above the 100-year flood elevation. For these projects, the homeowner is provided temporary lodging while work is done on the home, and nothing is moved out of the home.
- The mitigation reconstruction project is used when it is determined a home cannot be raised due to the home's instability. The program will move out all the household furnishings and store them, provide temporary lodging, demolish the old home, build a new foundation at 2 feet above 100-year flood elevation, and build a new home on the foundation. These are contractor-grade homes with no custom furnishings.
- The acquisition project buys the property from the homeowner, at the value of the property the day prior to the disaster. Once the homeowner relocates, the home is demolished, and the property remains as greenspace into perpetuity.

In all three of these projects, FEMA provides 75% of the cost and the state pays the 25% match. There is no cost to the homeowner.

The program does not have an income requirement and is intended to assist all of those impacted by the disaster.

Participation in the program is entirely voluntary, and property owners may withdraw their applications anytime.

NEXT STEPS FOR

Private Property Debris Removal

Homeowners who were not able to take their debris to the right of way for pickup by March 1 and who do not have debris removal insurance or have inadequate debris removal insurance may apply to have qualified disaster debris removed from their property for free through the Private Property Debris Removal (PPDR) Program. The program also covers the demolition of eligible unsafe structures.

The following debris is not eligible for the program:

- Debris on vacant lots, unimproved property, and unused or unmaintained areas.
- Debris on land used primarily for agricultural purposes, such as land for crops or livestock.

Right of Entry

A Right of Entry form, signed by all property owners, is legally required before contractors providing PPDR and/or demolition can access the owner's private property. A Right of Entry is a voluntary document. Your land is private, and it is your decision to grant access. You may withdraw from the program at any time prior to the start of debris removal or demolition activities on your property.

This money can be used to rent a place to live, such as a house, apartment, hotel room, RV, or other options while your home is repaired, or while you look for a new place to live.

If you are deemed eligible for FEMA Rental Assistance, the initial grant is for two months. The first step in receiving any assistance from FEMA is to apply. Find more information on applying for Individual Assistance on Page 8.

NEXT STEPS FOR

Rental Assistance Info for Landlords

Landlords and property managers can play a vital role in reducing housing instability and promoting recovery after a disaster. One resource that benefits landlords and tenants is rental assistance.

Advantages of Accepting Rental Assistance

One-time or ongoing payments of rent ensures that tenants stay in their homes and landlords receive the money for their unit(s). Often households and individuals seeking rental assistance are looking for stabilization in the safe and secure housing they are currently residing within.

There are several advantages to accepting rental assistance.

- Guaranteed rent payments: Rental assistance programs are specifically designed to make sure that landlords get paid and keep tenants housed.
- Guaranteed security deposits, arrears, utility payments, and more: Rental assistance can be more than just a regular monthly payment; many tenants are eligible for security deposits, arrears, utility assistance, and even support to cover accidental damages.
- Less vacancy time: When tenants move out, it takes time to find someone new and empty rentals do not generate rental income. By accepting rental assistance from an existing tenant, landlords continue to receive payment and reduce the time and headache of changing occupants.
- More potential renters: Accepting more forms of rent gives you access to a bigger pool of potential ready-to-rent tenants.
- Additional support: Many rental assistance programs work with households to provide additional support like case management, transportation, meals, medical care, and other resources necessary to maintain a safe, healthy, and sustainable home.
- Satisfaction of helping others: Everybody needs a little help sometimes. By accepting rental assistance, landlords become an important partner in the community safety net that allows neighbors to maintain a place to call home.

NEXT STEPS FOR

Rental Assistance Info for Landlords

Frequently Asked Questions

Who pays the rent?

Typically, rental assistance programs pay landlords directly each month assistance is needed. This ensures the landlord receives the funds.

Where could I refer my tenant for assistance?

Many charitable organizations provide rental assistance to households in need and have varied requirements. Some organizations serve specific tenants (low-income households, families with children, or seniors). For a list of rental assistance providers, go to Page 17.

How much rental assistance is available?

Rental assistance providers may have varying assistance thresholds based on program guidelines. These thresholds could be a monetary cap, a time limit, or may be limited based on Federal standards for Fair Market Rent. To best understand what assistance may be available to a household contact each provider to learn more about their program.

What is Fair Market Rent?

Each year the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) calculates the average rents in the region and sets the maximum amount that federally funded programs can pay. Non-federal programs and non-profits often use the same standard. To view Fair Market Rent amounts, visit <https://bit.ly/ashevillefmr>.

How do tenants qualify for rental assistance?

Qualifications will vary between each organization. Tenants may need to demonstrate the need for assistance and be income eligible in accordance with Area Median Income (AMI) levels. Area Median Income levels are determined by the number of people in the household and are published by HUD annually, to view these income levels visit <https://bit.ly/ashevilleami>.

NEXT STEPS FOR

Rental Assistance Info for Landlords

Frequently Asked Questions

What documentation do landlords need to provide?

Documentation that may need to be provided by a landlord will vary. Generally, landlords provide a copy of the lease agreement (if not provided by the tenant), a W9, and contact information for the landlord. In some cases, a signed attestation to accepting the assistance will be required.

How can I trust the payment will be valid?

Providers of rental assistance are typically certified 501(c)(3) nonprofit organizations with proper funding and a mission directly connected to the assistance they provide to the community. These organizations have a variety of grant funding with third parties like government agencies or foundations that often hold them accountable to ensure funds are expended properly and not misused.

Can landlords apply for rental assistance on behalf their tenants?

Landlords cannot apply directly for rental assistance on behalf of their tenants. Program eligibility requirements are based on the needs of the tenants. However, landlords can encourage tenants to apply for such assistance to receive payment from a provider on behalf of their tenant.

Best Practices

- Reach out to your tenant(s).
- Honor the lease and be flexible when possible.
- Include flexibility with existing tenants to arrange for late payments through assistance providers.
- Seek help to find solutions.

NEXT STEPS FOR

Private Road & Bridge Repair

If an individual had a privately owned road or bridge damaged or destroyed by Tropical Storm Helene, FEMA assistance may be available for replacement or repairs. Repairs can also be facilitated through FEMA Public Assistance.

Eligibility Requirements

To receive repair assistance for privately-owned access routes, the following conditions must be met:

- A FEMA inspection must determine repairs are necessary to provide drivable access to the primary residence.
- The applicant must be responsible (or share responsibility with other homeowners) for maintaining the privately-owned access route to their primary residence.
- The privately owned access route is the only way to reach the applicant's primary residence; repair or replacement of a secondary route is necessary for practical use (for example, it is impossible to access the residence without a bridge or road); OR the safety of the occupants or the residence would be adversely affected because emergency vehicles cannot reach the residence.

Apply for Bridge and Road Repair Assistance

Assistance for repairing privately owned roads and bridges is provided through FEMA Individual Assistance (IA). When you're applying, it is considered Home Repair.

You can apply in four ways:

- Submit your application online at www.disasterassistance.gov.
- Download the FEMA app for mobile devices.
- Call 1-800-621-3362. The line is open 7 a.m. to midnight ET every day and is available in multiple languages.
- Visit the Disaster Recovery Centers at Fairview Public Library and Weaverville Town Hall. Hours are Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-6 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m.-2 p.m.

For more information on IA, visit Page 8.

NEXT STEPS FOR

Private Road & Bridge Repair

Applying with Multiple Families

In an instance where the private road or bridge serves multiple households and these households share responsibility for its maintenance, all households are encouraged to apply. However, not all households are required to apply.

FEMA will need additional coordination between applicants, including:

- Written consent from all applicants as pertains to the shared privately-owned access route.
- A declarative statement affirming any assistance FEMA provides will be used to make repairs to the access route and that the applicant understands they are responsible for getting permits and complying with local codes and ordinances.

All applications will be reviewed to determine an equitable award, and each party could receive up to the maximum repair amount of $42,500.

Private roads and bridges that are maintained by an HOA may not be eligible for assistance. However, if the HOA is unable to receive assistance from insurance or other sources, FEMA may still help.

If You Already had Your Bridge or Road Repaired...

You may still be eligible for assistance. Let the FEMA inspector know that your road or bridge was damaged then repaired, and make sure you keep all repair receipts to send copies to FEMA after the inspection.

Repairs through Public Assistance

Private road and bridge repair can also be made through FEMA Public Assistance, which is provided to local, state, and tribal governments as well as some nonprofits. This assistance only allows for the minimum, temporary work required for emergency service access. PA can potentially supplement IA, if that assistance does not fully cover repairs.

NEXT STEPS FOR

Emergency Watershed Protection Program

Buncombe County residents with damage or severe erosion from Helene that causes a threat to a structure, road, bridge, culvert, or other infrastructure could be eligible for the U.S. Department of Agriculture EWP Program.

- Debris-clogged waterways
- Unstable streambanks
- Severe erosion jeopardizing public infrastructure
- Wind-borne debris removal
- Steep slopes that have lost ground cover and are in danger of sliding

The disaster-related damage must be causing a threat to an existing structure, road, bridge, or other infrastructure to be eligible. While this program does fund repairs, the timeline is generally 1-3 years.

Apply for the EWP Program

There are two ways to apply for funding.

- Online through the Buncombe County Property Damage Form. You can find the online application at <https://www.buncombecounty.org/countycenter/news-detail.aspx?id=21893>.
